MEMBERSHIP CRITERIA

1. Full Member

A Manufacturer or both Manufacturer and Installer or test house of independently tested and rated high security perimeter protection products that can meet the full member membership criteria.

A Manufacturer must own the manufacturing rights to a minimum of one independently tested and rated high security perimeter protection product. Manufacturers must maintain and have available product technical files (to minimum CE equivalent levels).

Provisional Full Member

A Manufacturer or both Manufacturer and Installer or test house of independently tested and rated high security perimeter protection products that does not have 3 years trading history but can meet the majority of the full member membership criteria.

A provisional full member has 1 year to attain all necessary standards and must provide annual accounts until 3 years trading history can be demonstrated to proceed to full membership.

2. Installer Member

An Installer must undertake installation works in respect of HVM and high security perimeter security products. These are specialist installation/project management companies that are not solely installers of their own brand product but are specialist perimeter security project management organisations.

Provisional Installer Member

An Installer who undertakes installation works in respect of HVM and high security perimeter security products but does not have 3 years trading history or all appropriate standards. These are specialist installation/project management companies that are not solely installers of their own brand product but are specialist perimeter security project management organisations.

A provisional installer member has 1 year to attain all necessary standards and must provide annual accounts until 3 years trading history can be demonstrated to proceed to full membership.

3. Associate Member

Associate Membership is also available for other organisations who are neither manufacturers nor installers but still have legitimate interest in external perimeter protection (e.g. relevant Government departments, utility companies).

4. Consultant Member

A Consultant member must be actively involved in the design and specification of independently tested and rated high security perimeter protection products or any other relevant perimeter security system. Consultant members must be Chartered Engineers and members of RSCS or other equivalent body.
Provisional Consultant Member

A provisional Consultant member must be actively involved in the design and specification of independently tested and rated high security perimeter protection products or any other relevant perimeter security system but may not be Chartered Engineers and members of RSCS or other equivalent body.

A provisional consultant member has 1 year to attain all necessary standards and must provide annual accounts until 3 years trading history can be demonstrated to proceed to full membership.

- In the event of any dispute regarding membership qualification, right, and obligations the Council shall adjudicate or refer the matter for independent review

Additional notes

It is accepted that a worse than average business credit risk rating can occur from time to time without necessarily meaning that a business is financially unstable. Therefore, in the event that a satisfactory credit risk rating cannot be provided at any membership renewal point then membership can be continued so long as the member company can demonstrate reasonable financial stability to the satisfaction of the PSSA’s confidential membership administration. All commercially sensitive information is kept confidential to the PSSA Secretariat and will not be disclosed to any third party without prior approval.
